

CALLING ALL WATER WARRIORS.

Do you care about our environment?

Do you wonder how you can keep our rivers and oceans clean and healthy for people and wildlife?

Are you looking to join a movement with others to make a difference in the world?

Calling all high-school and college students, recent grads and young professionals to kick-start a movement to champion clean water and trash-free rivers at the first ever

WATER WARRIORS SUMMIT

Whether you are an aspiring advocate, artist, engineer, influencer, lawyer, politician, or scientist who cares about our planet and our rivers and oceans, this summit is the place to learn from experts, exchange ideas and build campaigns to protect our rivers and oceans.

WHEN: Sunday, Oct. 13, 1-4 p.m. and Monday, Oct. 14, 9-4 p.m.

WHERE: Georgia Aquarium

COST: $25 per person (scholarships available!)

INCLUDES: Lunch and snacks, access to the aquarium including a behind-the-scenes tour, expert training, activities and films

Learn more at chattahoochee.org/waterwarriors

For questions on presentations, getting involved, financial support, or sponsoring a group, contact:

Juliet Cohen, Executive Director, Chattahoochee Riverkeeper
(404) 352-9828 | jcohen@chattahoochee.org

Partners: Captain Planet Foundation; City of Atlanta Office of Sustainability; Clark Atlanta University; Cox Conserves; Elachee Nature Science Center; Emory University, WARP / WASH; Georgia Aquarium; Georgia State University; Georgia; Georgia Tech Center for Serve-Learn-Sustain; Greening Youth Foundation; Hannah4Change; Kennesaw University; One More Generation; Pebble Tossers; RCE Youth Network; Soque River Watershed Association; Turner Foundation; The Westminster Schools; Villa Rica High School; West Atlanta Watershed Alliance; WestRock; Whale Shark Project